Water-Tank Waterproofing

Water tanks or swimming pools, it is always advisable to waterproof treatment inside the surface and walls of the water tanks it ensures water will not seep through the tank and prevent the entry of water from fractured concealed sewerage pipes and rainwater through the walls of the tank.

The overhead water tanks are often a source of water leakages through the ceiling and leakage in underground tanks is often a source to get sewerage water into the tank or store water flows outside the tank cause shortage of water.
